Summary

I have launched three national TV series and acquired sponsorship for 33+ episodes over the past 5 years. Our programming has aired on HISTORY Channel, H2, A&E, FYI (with Insight Television), and within FOX Networks. Our most recent productions have aired on FOX Business Network (with Elevate Media).

It is an honor to work with a team of EMMY, TELLY and AEGIS Award-winning Journalists, Producers, Directors and Scriptwriters. It is also a joy to help fund meaningful documentaries set to stream on Netflix. New episodes of "Built In America," "Innovation Nation," and "Sustainable Nation" are airing nationally this spring on Fox Business Network. Last year I worked for StarMedia on a special series "EARTH" with six-time Emmy Award Winning journalist John Holden.

The following was kindly written about me:

After consulting for companies around the world, Rachel works consistently to add value to organizations and feed her passions in life: funding and increasing sales for great companies that improve life, efficiency, green/ healthy living, technology, building, design, and giving back through philanthropic ventures.

She co-founded a successful private network to help other income property investors, design and stage their properties for selling and high-end leasing purposes. Interest in green technology and increasing the efficiency of properties, caused her to expand the business to help investors with alternative energy solutions.

She is quoted as saying: "It is an honor to work with executives & production professionals who have been successful for 20 years in television, and who have various shows that are currently on the air in the business, technology, health, reality, cooking, lifestyle, & home improvement genres."

As a producer, Rachel brings sponsorship and creative elements to television shows that air nationally and video content that streams within multiple niche markets.
